

LINGUA LATINA

THE OAKS

a.D. MMXIX

Parents, especially those of the grammar school and any who attended this year's earlier session, are cordially invited to Latin Night School A.D. 2019 on Tuesday, April 23rd from 6:30-8:00 P.M. in Room MP 5 of the main building at The Oaks. Come find out why it's black-berry-eating season in the Latin school according to one of the finest authors of the Middle Ages, Egbert of Liège. Hear the story of why genuine tears were shed during last year's 10th-grade Latin final for fear that it was the last day of Latin studies. Experience—as your son or daughter would in the classroom—the first section of the first chapter of our text Lingua Latīna Per Sē Illūstrāta, totally immersed and taught entirely in Latin. The goal that evening will be to demonstrate, without a shadow-of-a-twilight doubt, that Latin is alive and kicking, and that—in the words of Remy the Rat and his culinary hero Chef Auguste Gusteau in the movie Ratatouille, “Anyone can cook.”

Cheers, Godspeed, and excelsior,

Eric Indgjerd, Allegra Miller, Kim Mewes, Ross Tasche

P.S. Please ask your children if you can borrow their Latin books that evening. They have the night off.
