

2022 SENIOR THESIS SCHEDULE

Monday, May 23
1:00 PM	Arianna Curran	Christian youth should develop a heart for missions by understanding God’s Great Commission, by developing a deeper love for God, and by growing in God’s compassion for the lost.
3:00 PM	Zoe Rafter	The responsibility of education lies primarily with the family and the church rather than with the civil government.
4:00 PM	Ethan Moss	A good story must have a Christian worldview while it both delights and instructs.
5:00 PM	Zori Farley	To better understand sin as a suppression of truth, let us consider the Dante’s Inferno, Augustine’s Confessions, and Fahrenheit 451 because these works set the reader free.
Tuesday, May 24
1:00 PM	Katherine Van Horn	Modern man’s failures in culture, government, and church show his desperate need to find his identity in God.
2:00 PM	Stella Tasche	Christian parents ought not educate their children at public schools because public schools usurp parental authority, espouse secularism, and promote themselves as savior of society.
3:00 PM	Aaron Cook	Christians must reject the “Defund the Police” movement because this movement contradicts biblical commands, undermines safety, and violates justice.
4:00 PM	Gloria DePaolo	Feminism undermines women because it distorts the definition of freedom, promotes an incorrect view of submission, and demeans the value of home-making.
5:00 PM	Garrett Egger	Classical Christian education is valuable to contemporary society for three reasons: its nature, its benefits, and its relevance to democracy.
Wednesday, May 25
10:30 AM	Reese Ugrin-Smith	Christians need to produce quality media in the entertainment industry if they want to reach culture for God.
11:30 AM	Samantha Tate	Christians should oppose the redefinition of marriage because it contradicts Scripture, violates tradition, and distorts truth.
1:00 PM	Elliana Bjelkengren	In order to form a faith that lasts before leaving the home, a young person should develop a heart of worship, a love of Scripture, and a vision of the meaning of their Christian life.

Wednesday, May 25 (continued)
3:00 PM	Ricky Lin	The assumptions of mathematics are consistent with a biblical worldview because God is omnipresent and eternal, immanent and transcendent, and both rational and personal.
4:00 PM	Hailey Nelson	Man fails to fulfill the dominion mandate when he uses technology to idolize pleasure, to subvert mortality, and to deify mankind.
5:00 PM	Audrey Schnell	Tragedy can be used by Christians to understand and reflect punishment suffering, Biblical fall stories, and historical events.
Thursday, May 26
1:00 PM	Moses Wiens	Contemporary American Christians need to actively follow God's commands to deny themselves, take up their crosses, and follow Christ.
3:00 PM	Megan Tallman	The goals, methods, and results of censorship used by Big Tech follow the pattern of historical totalitarian regimes.
4:00 PM	Luke Krentel	Booker T. Washington is worthy of praise and imitation for his courage, wisdom, and work ethic.
5:00 PM	Sophie Oye	A Christian friendship requires justice, kindness, faithfulness, compassion, and love.
