

Virtual College Fairs and Webinars this Spring!

Families of 10th and 11th grade students can explore colleges in the comfort of your home through a few upcoming virtual college events. Here are some options:

- Colorado School of Mines, Colorado State University, the University of Colorado Boulder, and the University of Denver invite you to join their virtual session: “The Mountains are Calling - Study in Colorado!”

There are two options of dates: Thursday, March 18th, 4:30-6:00 p.m. PST; OR, Monday, May 3rd, 3:30-5:00 p.m. PST. (I have converted the stated times which are CST to PST). To register, click here:

- Carroll College (Helena, MT) offers a virtual event this Sunday, 3-4 p.m. PST. This event will feature four speakers from our Business, Nursing, Engineering, and Pre-Medicine programs. They will answer questions about the Carroll experience, why they chose Carroll, and specifics about their majors and current careers. No need to RSVP. - CollegeBoard’s First-ever Virtual College Fairs

BigFuture™ Days gives students a chance to get information about multiple colleges from admissions officers and current college students. Explore colleges in a way that is informative and connect directly via live Q&A sessions. Colleges are grouped by region—attend any or all of these events:

- BigFuture Day West + Southwest, Tuesday, March 30
- BigFuture Day Midwest, Sunday, April 18
- BigFuture Day Southeast, Thursday, April 29
